AUSTRIA'S KING PLEDGES FEALTY TO GERMAN ALLY

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)
AMSTERDAM, Netherlands, June 1.—The Austrian Reichstag convened at Vienna yesterday, Emperor Charles making the speech from the throne in person. He was accorded an enthusiastic greeting when he entered the chamber.
His statement that the different nationalities of the dual monarchy enjoy equal rights in the government was cheered, while he was also warmly applauded when he said "Austria will be faithful to her ally, Germany."
The new ruler said that he deplored the increasing sacrifices that are imposed upon his people as a result of the long war. Especially does he deplore the sacrifice of the blood of his soldiers and the general deprivation upon the children.
The nation is today facing its hardest time, he said, when the supplies from the old harvest are running short and those from the new harvest are not available, but this only emphasizes the necessity for holding on. He urged that there be a liberal economic policy adopted by the legislators and that what provision could be made for the aid of the dependent relatives of the soldiers should be carried through. The middle classes generally are suffering, he stated, and these should be remembered.
Concluding his address, Emperor Charles stated that he hoped to have the loyal cooperation of all races within the empire in order that at the end all should be able to share in the glory of the victory to come.

GORKY TELLS STORY OF BULGAR PERFDY

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)
PETROGRAD, Russia, June 1.—Maxim Gorky, the noted author, yesterday published a sensational account of a recent attempt that was made by D. Rozov, the Bulgarian minister at Berlin, to inveigle him into entering into clandestine negotiations for a separate peace between Russia and the Central Powers.
Gorky declares that the proposal was delivered to him in this capital by two agents of Germany.
This statement is published in Gorky's own paper, the Noviazhizm, the account of the attempt and of Gorky's rejection of it occupying three columns of the issue. The Bulgarian minister offered complete peace proposals, and spoke, he claimed, in the name of Germany and Austria as well as Bulgaria.
Although Gorky is an almost fanatical peace advocate, he roundly deplores that he can be a traitor to his country.

A stray dog snarled at a number of persons in West Columbus avenue, near Fort, and a policeman leaped at him on the spot.

BAKER DOUBTS REPORT SLACKERS LEAVE COUNTRY

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—Regarding reports that have been received from the Mexican border and elsewhere that slackers are leaving the country in order to avoid the draft, Secretary of War Baker stated yesterday that he did not believe such reports had any foundation in fact. It would be useless, he added, for slackers to try in that way to escape doing their duty, for they would inevitably be caught and made to serve.
Secretary Baker said that he had decided that at present no examination of persons leaving the country would be required and that they would not be compelled to answer questions as to their reasons for leaving the United States.
Many Plotters Caught
In several cities throughout the country, particularly in the Middle West, arrests have been made by the federal authorities of persons charged with being implicated in anti-draft plots.
In Kansas City, Missouri, four men and one woman were placed under arrest, following a general round up of suspects alleged to be attempting to create sentiment against conscription and to induce men liable for military service to defy or evade the provisions of the law.
In Topeka, Kansas, no less than 31 were arrested and charged with conspiring to aid persons subject to draft to evade registration and possible military service.
Appealing to Courts
Of the five persons arrested in Kansas City, two had petitioned the court for an injunction to restrain the government and others from enforcing the draft. Their petitions, however, were promptly denied by the court.
The petitioners were in the act of appealing from the decision of the court when they were placed under arrest by the federal authorities. The authorities announce that a grand jury will be impaneled immediately to deal with the cases of all persons accused of trying to defeat the draft.
Three persons were arrested in Columbus, Ohio, on the ground that they were implicated in plots to defeat the provisions of the selective draft law. Charges of treason were lodged against them.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—Secretary Daniels yesterday sharply denounced the offers which have been made to the department to supply it with the names of men in the service indicating their German descent and the sending in of rumors decrying the loyalty of these men.

FRENCH RECAPTURE GROUND LOST TO GERMANS

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)
NEW YORK, N. Y., June 1.—There was no action of consequence anywhere yesterday, except in the Champagne, where the French, countering the German advance, recaptured the trenches which they were compelled to surrender to the Germans on Wednesday and retrieved the entire position.
At Berry au Bac, in the Wednesday offensive, there was hand-to-hand fighting, in which the Germans were partially successful. They sapped the French trenches and blew them up, afterward occupying the crater and driving off or killing the surviving defenders.
The British Government has requisitioned all of the exportable New Zealand hides and sheepskins and permits can only be shipped on securing a permit from the Minister of Customs.

ENGLAND'S HERO FORMER SCOUT, NOW A 'MIDDY'

LONDON, Eng.—The story of the midshipman of H. M. S. Broke, who with an automatic revolver met single-handed a rush of frenzied Germans from a rammed destroyer locked in combat with Broke during the Channel fight, on Friday, April 20, is as thrilling as any in the pages of the classic sea romances beloved of boys.
Boy scouts will feel a special pride in the great deeds of the midshipman hero, for Midshipman Donald A. Gyles, like the famous Jack Cornwall, was a boy scout in his schoolboy days.
The midshipman is nineteen years old. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Gyles, 141 Muswell avenue, Muswell Hill, N., a district in which they lived for twenty years. He was educated at the Owens School in Islington and began his sea career with the White Star Line as a cadet in the training ship Mersey, in which he sailed around the world. In his second year at sea he was nominated to the navy for a year's training, and had just been posted to a battleship when the war broke out.

Since then he has been on active service and has had plenty of adventures. He spent nineteen months in the Mediterranean and was all through the Dardanelles campaign, in which he did good work. At the landing of the Australians at Gaba Tepe he received two wounds; fortunately neither was serious.
In November last he came under the notice of Commander E. R. G. Evans, who offered him a berth in the Dover patrol, and he has been there ever since.

He is now in a hospital on the southeast coast recovering from a rather severe wound just over the eye.
Early in the fight the midshipman was struck by a fragment of shrapnel in the right eye and also wounded in the right arm and right leg. He and five other men manned the forecastle gun. Describing his subsequent experiences, the midshipman said:

"While we were serving the gun several Germans boarded up from the German destroyer we had rammed, yelling all the time for mercy and shouting other things which we could not understand. They rushed along the deck and endeavored to attack us, making a special dash at me. I pointed my revolver at them and ordered them all forward, when one burly German, a regular giant, made a lunge at me seizing my right arm and trying to wrest my weapon from me. But I was not going to be beaten by a German, however big. Petty Officer Woodfield aimed a blow at the giant, but he managed to dodge it and ran round our gun, hoping to attack me from the rear. The timely intervention of Able Seaman Ingleson, who ran his cutlass through the Hun, settled him once and for all.
"We threw his body overboard and our decks of all the Germans, making several prisoners. We found two kneeling and skulking down forward in an attempt to hide themselves. The pair were made prisoners."

PACIFIST WHO FOUGHT SENATOR LODGE GIVES SERVICES TO NATION

BOSTON, Mass.—Alexander Bannwart, whose pacifist beliefs led him to engage in a fight with Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in Washington on April 2, has enlisted in the army.
"I am sorry, Mabel, but I can't call for you tonight," he said.
"Why not, John dear?"
"I've got an awful sore throat," Bannwart said.

GREAT MERCHANT SUBMARINES FOR ENDING U PERIL

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 21.—The Philadelphia Press will publish a story tomorrow to the effect that "America has found the perfect answer to the German submarine terror." It is said to be a merchant submarine, standardized at about 7500 tons, or 8000 tons dead weight, of such speed that it can, even when submerged, easily elude any surface pursuer, and is non-sinkable.
The craft, the invention of Simon Lake, according to the Press, is capable of submerging within half a minute, and has been so standardized and simplified that the first one may be turned out in four months, and others after that at the rate of three or four a week. It will burn heavy oil, and the construction is said to be such that its parts can be made simultaneously in many widely scattered steel plants and assembled in a central plant within a few days.
